Public Works

Public Works Director O'Brien reviewed a paint stewardship program, through PaintCare, promoted by the Department of Ecology (DOE) for the recycling of architectural latex and oil based paints. Currently, under the Adams County Solid Waste Comprehensive plan, the transfer stations collect these items free of charge and dispose of them through a LWSFA grant under the Household Hazardous Waste (HHW) program. The stewardship program is available to Adams County. Should Adams County be identified as a drop site, PaintCare will pick up the materials from the county. Additional costs may be necessary to abide by their guidelines. O'Brien noted that if the county does not join when it is available, and choose to collect HHW, the disposal of the architectural latex and oil based paints is no longer eligible for the local solid waste financial assistance grant and the cost will be absorbed by the county.

Additionally, O'Brien reported on staffing at the transfer stations; recycling activities; and, road maintenance, noting snow is expected later in the week.

Vacation of Portions of Streets and Alleys within the Original Town of Ralston

Engineer Yaeger presented the Preliminary Engineer's Report on the requested vacation of portions of streets and alleys within the Original Town of Ralston, Adams County. The report noted the general condition of the described portion of the streets and alleys is an unopened right of way of various widths with no improvements. The vacation of these streets and alleys does not affect legal access to any of the existing property owners parcels.
