Sheriff's Office

Undersheriff Hunt reported to the board that two separate fights had occurred in the jail. It was then discovered after trying to copy the videos of the fights that the picture on the oldest camera's video was so bad it was not viewable. Computer Tech Pat Clark of Central Services checked it out and came to the conclusion that one of the two video cards in the oldest camera was bad and suggested getting a new video card. The cost of the new video card was estimated at approximately $630.

Undersheriff Hunt requested and received authorization to proceed with the purchase of one video capture card for the video surveillance system in the jail.
